Family

I am grateful for the opportunity to meet my family after a decade of being strangers. In this photo I captured a scene of my little cousin playing at a party where I got to know who they were. I am grateful for how I can fit in and be understood with them.

Red Squirrel Foraging

Often life can get too busy which prevents us from slowing down and appreciating firsthand the beauty of nature. I am thankful that I was able to witness and capture this special, simple moment in the squirrel's life.

Gratitude for a smiling face

My piece is very Retro 1960's style cut up pop art. A period of optimism and transformation. It came to me out of nowhere, and is a reminder that life is full of these chance encounters/ inspirations that lift us onto another plane of joy. That next uplift is just around the corner.

Lonliness Sky

I am grateful for the sky. This is a breathtaking moment of beauty and tranquillity.

Watching the sky fills me with peace and gratitude for the beauty of nature.

The picture for me captures the essence of loneliness and tranquillity.

The contrast between the busy urban environment and the quiet beauty of the sky enhances the feeling of being alone with one's thoughts.
